Introduction

During the current Palestinian Intifada, Israeli occupying forces have adopted a policy of extra-judicial assassinations against Palestinians allegedly involved in resistance activities against Israeli targets. International complicity concerning this issue has only served to encourage Israeli authorities to escalate their policy of extra-judicial assassinations; and in so doing, commit further grave breaches of the Geneva Convention Relative to the Protection of Civilian Persons in Time of War, 1949 (Fourth Geneva Convention), against Palestinian civilians.

Since the beginning of the current Intifada, PCHR has made efforts to accurately document assassination attempts carried out by Israeli occupying forces in the Occupied Palestinian Territories (OPTs), highlight these actions, draw attention to their dangerous effects and urge the international community to intervene and pressure Israeli occupying forces to stop such actions. For the purpose of documentation, PCHR depends on an updated accurate database that detail all assassination attempts carried out by Israeli occupying forces during the current Intifada.

Israeli occupying forces have carried out assassination attempts against activists of various Palestinian organizations, whom they accuse of carrying out or planning attacks against Israeli forces in the Occupied Palestinian Territories and/or inside Israel. Israeli forces have begun to target the political leaders of Palestinian organizations. All assassination attempts against Palestinians have been carried out in a summary fashion; with neither evidence being offered to link the targeted individual to attacks committed by Palestinian resistance fighters, nor efforts made to provide judicial review of the means and methods employed and the process by which individuals are chosen to be targeted for assassination.

As part of its activities, PCHR has published a series of reports that document assassinations committed by Israeli occupying forces against Palestinians during the al-Aqsa Intifada. The reports highlight the methods employed by Israeli occupying forces in carrying out assassination attempts, and provide statistics on the amount and type of Palestinians killed or wounded in such attempts. They are also annexed with tables of assassination attempts. PCHR has published 5 reports on assassinations committed by Israeli occupying forces between 29 September 2000 and 30 April 2003.1

This is the sixth in a series of reports published by PCHR on assassinations committed by Israeli occupying forces during the al-Aqsa Intifada. This report documents assassinations in the period 1 May – 28 September 2003. The period under study witnesses an unprecedented escalation in the assassination attempts carried out by Israeli occupying forces in the OPTs. Israeli occupying forces targeted most leaders of the Islamic Resistance Movement (Hamas) in the Gaza Strip. Most targeted leaders survived these attempts, but Isma’il Abu Shanab, a senior leader of Hamas, was killed in one of these attempts. The Israeli government officially declared that it would target political and military leaders of Hamas and that none of them would enjoy impunity. In this context, the Israeli media reported that the Israeli government made playing cards, which have photos of 34 Palestinian figures who would be targeted by Israeli occupying forces, in a fashion similar to playing cards made by the US occupying forces in Iraq, which have photos of 55 wanted former Iraqi leaders. The playing cards made by the Israeli government include photos of some leaders of Hamas in the OPTs and abroad, including: Sheikh Ahmed Yassin, the founder of the movement; Dr. ‘Abdul ‘Aziz al-Rantisi; Dr. Mahmoud al-Zahhar; Isma’il Abu Shanab, whose photo has a sign that refers to his death; Khaled Masha‘al, head of the political bureau of Hamas; and Mohammed Daif and ‘Adnan al-Ghoul, who are senior leaders of ‘Ezziddin al-Qassam Brigade, the military wing of Hamas, in the Gaza Strip. The playing cards include also a photo of Sheikh Hassan Nasrallah, Secretary General of Hizbullah in Lebanon, the only non-Palestinian figure included in the playing cards.

Facts and Figures

During the period under study, Israeli occupying forces carried out 29 assassination attempts that targeted 57 Palestinians from various Palestinian organizations, allegedly wanted by Israeli forces for their resistance activities. In these attempts, 66 Palestinians were killed; 35 targeted Palestinians and 31 bystanders, including 5 children, 6 women and 7 elderly people. An old man also died from an injury he sustained in an assassination attempt carried out by Israeli occupying forces in Tulkarm in 2001. In addition, 268 Palestinians were wounded in these assassination attempts. Of those wounded, 7 were targeted individuals, while the others, including 65 children and a number of women and elderly people, were non-targeted bystanders.

A total of 157 assassination operations were carried out by Israeli forces from 28 September 2000 to 28 September 2003. In these operations, 195 targeted Palestinians were killed, 3 of whom were children, and 114 bystanders were killed, including 38 children, 14 women and 16 elderly people. In addition, 34 targeted Palestinians and 593 bystanders were wounded by Israeli forces during these operations.

Most assassination attempts took place in the West Bank, where Israeli occupying forces carried out 104 assassination attempts that left 133 targeted Palestinians and 52 bystanders dead, and 148 Palestinians wounded. In the Gaza Strip, 61 targeted Palestinians and 64 bystanders were killed in 42 assassination attempts carried out by Israeli occupying forces. In addition, 479 Palestinians, including 10 targeted persons, were wounded.

Escalation of Assassinations

According to PCHR’s documentation, the number of assassinations carried out by Israeli occupying forces against Palestinians has steadily increased during the current Intifada, and the number of victims has sharply increased. In the first year of the Intifada, 28 September 2000 – 28 September 2001, Israeli occupying forces carried out 41 assassination attempts. In these attempts, 54 Palestinians, including 35 targeted persons and 19 bystanders were killed. Furthermore, 65 Palestinians, including 13 targeted persons and 52 bystanders, were wounded. In the second year of the Intifada, 29 September 2001 – 28 September 2002, Israeli occupying forces... forces carried out 50 assassination attempts. In these attempts, 114 Palestinians, including 70 targeted persons and 44 bystanders were killed. In addition, 188 Palestinians, including 6 targeted persons and 182 bystanders were wounded. In the third year of the Intifada, 29 September 2002 – 28 September 2003, Israeli occupying forces carried out 66 assassination attempts that targeted. In these attempts, 141 Palestinians, including 99 targeted persons and 51 bystanders were killed. In addition, 374 Palestinians, including 15 targeted persons and 359 bystanders were wounded.

Diagram (3)

Palestinians Wounded in Assassination Attempts Carried out by Israeli Occupying Forces in the Years of the Intifada
The above diagrams show that the period under study witnessed an increase in the frequency of assassination attempts carried out by Israeli occupying forces. While the average monthly number of assassination attempts in the first year of the Intifada was 3.41, it increased to 4.16 in the second year, and to 5.5 in the third year.

There was also an increase in the number of victims per month. While the monthly average number of victims was 4.4 in the first year, it sharply increased to 9.41 in the second year and to 11.5 in the third year.

Disregard for the Lives of Non-Targeted Palestinian Civilians

According to PCHR’s documentation, Israeli occupying forces have shown clear disregard for the lives of non-targeted Palestinian civilians while carrying out assassination attempts. The fact that bystanders account for a large percentage of those killed and almost all of those wounded in Israeli assassination attempts demonstrates an increasing disregard for civilian life by Israeli officials.

According to PCHR’s documentation, 37% of Palestinians killed during assassination attempts were civilian bystanders, 31% of whom were children. In addition, 95% of the Palestinians who were wounded in these attempts were also civilian bystanders. Such figures refute Israeli claims that assassination attempts are performed in an accurate manner that causes the least harm to civilians.

During the period under study, 30 Palestinian bystanders, including 5 children, were killed in assassination attempts, constituting 47.5% of the total number of victims. In addition, 261 civilian bystanders were wounded, constituting 98% of the total number of the wounded. In one assassination attempt on 12 June 2003, Israeli helicopter gunships attacked the car of a member of the Hamas movement, Tasser Mohammed Taha, 30, from al-Boreij refugee camp in the central Gaza Strip, while he, his wife and their child were traveling through Gaza City. The three and 5 civilian bystanders were killed and more than 20 others were injured. A missile also hit a nearby house, but the family survived.

Illegal Actions Under International Humanitarian Law

Assassinations constitute extra-judicial executions under international humanitarian law and are thus illegal; they represent a distinct subset of “willful killings” insofar as they are clearly carried out in a premeditated and targeted manner. Moreover, assassinations by Israeli forces lack a judicial process; automatically excluding the possibility for presentation of evidence or opportunities for the defense and appeal of targeted individuals.

Article 3(1) of the Fourth Geneva Convention, the overriding instrument of international humanitarian law governing Israel’s occupation of Palestinian territories, provides:

“The following acts are and shall remain prohibited at any time and in any place whatsoever…:
(a) Violence to life and person, in particular murder of all kinds, mutilation, cruel treatment and torture…”

Moreover, under Article 27 of the Convention, “protected persons are entitled, in all circumstances, to “respect for their persons” and that “they shall be at all times humanely treated, and shall be protected especially against all acts of violence or threats thereof.”

Article 32 of the Convention prohibits "taking any measure of such a character as to cause the physical suffering or extermination of protected persons.” It further provides that "this prohibition applies not only to murder, torture, corporal punishment, mutilation and medical or scientific experiments not necessitated by the medical treatment of a protected person, but also to any other measures of brutality whether applied by civilian or military agents.”

Willful killings are considered grave breaches of the Fourth Geneva Convention (Article 147), and further defined as war crimes in the First Additional Protocol (Article 185). All High Contracting Parties to the Convention are obliged “to search for persons alleged to have committed, or to have ordered to be committed, such grave breaches, and shall bring such persons, regardless of their nationality, before their own courts” (Article 146).

These killings also violate numerous provisions of international human rights law:

Article 3 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights provides that "everyone has the right to life, liberty and security of person."

Article 6(1) of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, to which Israel is a state party, provides that “every human being has the inherent right to life. This right shall be protected by law. No one shall be arbitrarily deprived of his life.”

Furthermore, the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court defines these killings as war crimes. The Statute states that war crimes include:

"(a) Grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions of 12 August 1949, namely, any of the following acts against persons or property protected under the provisions of the relevant Geneva Convention:
(i) Willful killing;…
(b)…
(iv) Intentionally launching an attack in the knowledge that such attack will cause incidental loss of life or injury to civilians or damage to civilian objects.…
(vi) Killing or wounding a combatant who, having laid down his arms or having no longer means of defense…
(iv) The passing of sentences and the carrying out of executions without previous judgment pronounced by a regularly constituted court, affording all judicial guarantees which are generally recognized as indispensable.
(ix) Killing or wounding treacherously a combatant adversary…” 5

In his opinion mentioned in a petition submitted by the Palestinian Society for the Protection of Human Rights and the Environment (LAW) and the Public Committee against Torture in Israel (PCATI) to the Israeli High Court on 18 June 2003, to stop assassinations committed by Israeli occupying forces, Professor Antonio Cassese states that “the killing of civilians suspected of terrorist activities, if not carried out while they are directly engaged in these activities, is a blatant violation of one of the most fundamental tenets of international law – the obligation of warring sides to distinguish between combatants and civilians.” Professor Cassese is considered a world renowned expert in international humanitarian law.

An Israeli Official Policy

The Israeli government openly claims responsibility for and a determination to continue its policy of “targeted killing” or “intense deterrence” – Israeli terminology for extra-judicial assassinations. Furthermore, Israel is the only state in the world that has legalized the use of assassinations, a policy widely condemned by the international community. Israel claims that assassinations are carried out in self-defense against “terrorist attacks.”
Decisions to carry out extra-judicial assassinations are made by senior Israeli officials, such as the prime minister and defense minister. At the opening of a weekly meeting of the Israeli cabinet on 22 June 2003, the Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon praised the assassination of ‘Abdullah al-Qawasmi, the leader of the military wing of Hamas movement in Hebron. Sharon said that he “would like to thank security services for the success of the important operation in Hebron” and described the operation as “very important and aimed to ensure security for the citizens of Israel.” The Israeli Defense Minister Shaul Mofaz ordered Israeli security services to increase military operations, including arrests and assassinations. The Israeli military Chief of Staff Moshe Ya’lon admitted responsibility for the assassinations committed by his forces. The Israeli media reported that “for the first time, he talked about the campaign of assassinations carried out against activists of Hamas movement in the Gaza Strip (in an indication to a series of assassination attempts that targeted a number of activists of Hamas movement in the period 10-13 June 2003, which killed a number of activists and dozens of civilians and injured hundreds of others). Ya’lon said that “there is a need for madness for some days to prevent further deterioration… assassinations provide the political establishment with a means to make changes and this means proves itself.”

Assassination attempts carried out by Israeli occupying forces against Palestinian activists in the OPTs are approved by the Israeli High Court. On 8 July 2003, the court denied a petition submitted by the Palestinian Society for the Protection of Human Rights and the Environment (LAW) and the Public Committee against Torture in Israel (PCATI) requesting an interim injunction prohibiting assassinations in the West Bank and the Gaza Strip. However, the court granted the State 60 days to reply to the arguments presented by the petitioners.

Methods Employed in Assassination Attempts

Since the current Intifada began in September 2000, Israeli occupying forces extra-judicially assassinated dozens of Palestinians, who were allegedly wanted for carrying out, planning or facilitating resistance activities against Israeli targets. In such operations, Israeli occupying forces have employed a number of methods:

5 Ibid., 18 June 2003.
6 Ibid., 9 July 2003.
1. Attacking the place where a targeted person is present with helicopter gunships or fighter jets

Israeli occupying forces have employed this method in dozens of assassination attempts. Israeli helicopter gunships launch missiles at a targeted person, who may be in a car, a house or a public building. In some attempts, Israeli occupying forces used F-16 fighter jets to fire rockets into densely populated areas, causing high casualties among Palestinian civilians. Out of 157 assassination attempts carried out by Israeli occupying forces, combat helicopters and fighter jets were used in 57 operations, constituting 38% of the total number of attempts. During the period under study, Israeli occupying forces used combat helicopters and fighter jets in 16 out of 29 assassination attempts, constituting 55% of the number of attempts.

2. Undercover units

Undercover units are elite units of Israeli occupying forces that disguise themselves as Palestinians, and often use civilian cars with Palestinian registration tags to infiltrate Palestinian communities, in order to assassinate or arrest Palestinians. These units were formed during the first Intifada (1987-1993) in which they killed dozens of Palestinians. In the current Intifada, undercover units have intensified their activities and assassinated dozens of Palestinians in the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

3. Firing at a targeted person from inside Israeli military locations

There are many Israeli military locations and military checkpoints surrounding Palestinian communities in the West Bank and Gaza Strip. During the current Intifada, Israeli occupying forces have reinforced their presence in some Palestinian towns, villages and refugee camps. Israeli soldiers fire at Palestinian activists from military installations and checkpoints in these areas. At times, Israeli forces fire artillery shells at activists from these locations.

4. Surrounding and attacking the house of a targeted person

Israeli occupying forces infiltrate a Palestinian community, brake into the house of a targeted person and shoot the targeted individual. During and after the Israeli full-scale offensive on the West Bank in the spring of 2002 (“Operation Defensive Shield”), Israeli forces carried out a number of assassinations using this method. In many instances, Israeli occupying forces destroyed houses while the residents were still inside.
5. Using Palestinian civilians as human shields

Israeli occupying forces have used Palestinian civilians as human shields during attempts to assassinate Palestinian activists, unlawfully endangering the lives of these civilians. Palestinian civilians used as human shields are forced to stay in front of Israeli forces as they move towards the place where a targeted person is hiding. One Palestinian civilian was killed and others were wounded when they were forced to act as human shields during assassination attempts.

At approximately 02:00 on Thursday, 29 May 2003, approximately 20 Israeli soldiers moved into Abu Haddaf area in al-Qarara village, northeast of Khan Yunis. They raided the house of Jihad Salim al-Qedra and forced the 8 residents out. The entire family left the house except for the owner's son, Mohammed, 25, who was sleeping on the roof. The family overheard an Israeli soldier saying: "Everyone in the house must get out." Mohammed, who was unarmed, then tried to exit the house, but as he attempted to leave, the family heard the Israeli soldiers fire 6 live bullets directed at him from a distance of only 2m. His family rushed into the house but the Israeli soldiers prevented them from helping Mohammed. The soldiers remained in the house for about half an hour, while the son lay injured. When Israeli soldiers withdrew from the house, they detained the owner's other son, Ahmed, 21. As soon as the soldiers left, neighbors attempted to evacuate Mohammed to a hospital in Khan Yunis, but were stopped by Israeli soldiers, who ordered them to Mohammed out of the car. Israeli soldiers handcuffed and blindfolded the neighbors, and a soldier then fired one bullet at Mohammed at point blank range. A second bullet was fired into the air. Mohammed remained on the ground until Israeli soldiers withdrew from the area. A Palestinian ambulance evacuated the body to Nasser Hospital in Khan Yunis. According to medical sources, the victim was hit by 3 live bullets in the chest, abdomen and thigh.
Case (4)

Date: 10 June 2003

The main targeted person: Dr. 'Abdul 'Aziz al-Rantisi, 60, Gaza
Another targeted Person: Mustapha Abdul Rahim Saleh, 30, from Gaza

At approximately 10:53 on Tuesday, 10 June 2003, 2 Israeli combat helicopters launched 6 missiles at a civilian car – a blue Mitsubishi – that was traveling in 'Ezziddin al-Qassam Street in a densely populated area in Gaza City. Dr. 'Abdul 'Aziz al-Rantisi, 60, a prominent leader of the Hamas movement, his son, Ahmed, 20, and two of his bodyguards were traveling in the car.

The first missile hit the front of the car. Although the passengers were wounded by the first strike, they managed to jump from the vehicle. Shortly after, the helicopters launched more missiles, completely destroying the car. The second strike killed a woman, who was passing by the area. The woman has been identified as Khadra Yousef Abu Hamada, 30 from Al Karama housing project, north of Gaza City. Dr. al-Rantisi survived the attack, but was wounded in his left leg. More than 30 civilians, including 8 children, were also wounded. Shortly after the attack the wounded were evacuated to Shifa Hospital in Gaza City. According to medical sources, 7 of the wounded were in a serious condition, including one of al-Rantisi’s bodyguards, Mustapha Abdul Rahim Saleh, 30, from Gaza City. An hour after the attack, Saleh succumbed to his wound. Also among the wounded was PCHR staff member, Bassam Abu Hashish, 40, from Gaza City, who was wounded by shrapnel throughout his body, as he passed by the area.

On 11 June 2003, Israeli media sources pointed out that “Israeli security services accuse al-Ranstissi of links to 227 Israeli deaths and 1393 injuries in attacks carried out by Hamas movement since the beginning of the Intifada in September 2000.” The same sources further claimed that al-Rantissi is “responsible for launching al-Qassam rockets, infiltrations into Israeli settlements, and detonating explosives against Israeli vehicles.” According to the same sources, al-Rantissi is “accused of recruiting Israeli Arabs to Hamas movement.”

Israeli occupying forces admitted responsibility for the failed assassination attempt against al-Rantissi. On 10 June 2003, Israeli media reports quoted Israeli political sources as saying: “If the Palestinian Authority does not combat terrorism, Israel will do it. Al-Rantissi postponed a ceasefire. He exploits the media to send communiqués to field activists of Hamas movement.” The same sources further claimed that “activists of Hamas recently arrested confessed during interrogation... that al-Rantissi has direct links to giving instructions to carry out attacks against Israel.”

Israeli media reports also quoted Israeli security sources commenting on a bombing that occurred in Jerusalem following that failed assassination attempt that targeted al-Ranstissi as saying: “The bombing is a part of the consistent policies of Hamas. Israel attempted to get rid of one of the movement’s leaders at the planning level (an indication to the failed assassination attempt that targeted al-Rantissi). We hope to succeed in the future. The bombing occurred shortly after the failed assassination attempt, while planning for such attacks usually needs a very long time.”

The fifth missile launched by the Israeli helicopter gunship missed the targeted car and hit the family home of 'Abdul Fatah 'Abdullah Nijem, located only a few meters from where the car was hit. No injuries were reported.

Taha had been wanted by the Israeli authorities for many years due to his alleged involvement in the military wing of the Hamas movement. In March 2003, Israeli occupying forces raided Taha’s family home during an incursion into the al-Boreij camp, in the central Gaza Strip. His 65-year-old father and three of his brothers were arrested during the raid, but Taha managed to escape. The family home was destroyed during the incursion. Taha’s father and brothers remain in Israeli detention.

Immediately, members of the undercover unit, who were wearing military uniform, got out of the car and opened fire at the men. Both were hit by several live bullets. Targeted person: 'Abdullah 'Abdul Qader al-Qawasmi, 43, from Hebron

On Saturday evening, 20 June 2003, an undercover unit of Israeli occupying forces assassinated 'Abdullah 'Abdul Qader al-Qawasmi, 43, from Hebron. Qawasmi was accused by Israel of being the leader of the military wing of Hamas movement in the West Bank.

According to information available to PCHR, at approximately 22:30 on Saturday, 20 June 2003, al-Qawasmi left al-Ansar mosque in al-Salam Street in the West of Hebron after the evening prayer. He was reportedly unarmed. When he was approximately 70m away from the mosque, members of an Israeli undercover unit got out of 3 Palestinian-plated cars. Without prior warning, they opened fire at al-Qawasmi from a close distance, killing him. According to eyewitnesses, Israeli soldiers fired at the victim continuously for more than 5 minutes. Then the forces surrounded him and fired at his body from close range. Israeli forces surrounded the mosque and opened fire preventing worshippers from leaving. They closed the area and imposed a curfew, denying access for Palestinian ambulances. After approximately an hour and a half, they transferred al-Qawasmi's body to an unknown destination.

The Israeli daily Yediot Aharanot quoted Israeli military sources on its Arabic website as saying that "an Israeli undercover unit arrived to the place in Hebron where al-Qawasmi was present to arrest him. He fired at soldiers, so they returned fire and killed him." At the beginning of the weekly meeting of the Israeli cabinet on Sunday, 22 June 2003, Israeli Prime Minster Ariel Sharon praised the assassination, saying: "I would like to thank security services for the success of the important operation of yesterday in Hebron." Sharon described the operation as "very important to achieve security for the citizens of Israel." He added that "if Palestinians do not assume security responsibility in proposed areas, Israel will continue its operations to achieve security for its citizens."

The first 2 missiles missed the target and exploded ahead of the car. While the driver was trying to move back, a third missile hit the front of the car. Palestinian civilians hurried towards the car, and took out the driver, Mohammed Na'im Siam, 28. 1. Akram 'Ali Farhan, 29; and

In addition, 12 civilians passing by were wounded; two were in a serious condition.

They surrounded three commercial stores belonging to the heirs of the deceased Mohammed Jawad ‘Omar al-Muhtasseb, approximately 300m east of the headquarters of the Temporary International Presence in Hebron (TIPH). Israeli soldiers ordered residents of nearby buildings through megaphones to get out. Then, they opened fire at the stores. They then ordered a person in the targeted buildings to surrender. At approximately 03:00, Israeli soldiers fired two artillery shells at the stores. As a result, fire broke out in the stores. It is worth noting that on 10 December 2001, Seder survived a failed assassination attempt, when an Israeli helicopter fired two missiles at a car, in which he was traveling, when it stopped at a traffic light on al-Salam Street in the center of Hebron. Although Seder survived the attack, two Palestinian children: Burhan Mohammed al-Haimouni, 3; and Shadi Ahmed ‘Arafa, 13, were killed, and a third civilian, Mohammed Ibrahim al-Haimouni, 46, died later of the wounds he sustained in the attack.

Conclusion

Israeli occupying forces commit extra-judicial assassinations against Palestinian field and political activists of various organizations, despite the fact that it is usually possible for them to arrest these activists and prosecute them in a proper judicial forum. This policy of extra-judicial assassination has been officially adopted by the Israeli political and military establishments, and judicially sustained by the Israeli Supreme Court, in contradiction of international humanitarian law and human rights law.

Furthermore, international complacency concerning this issue has reinforced Israel’s ability to continue its policy of extra-judicial assassinations; acts which constitute war crimes under international humanitarian law, and which the High Contracting Parties to the Geneva Conventions are legally obligated to take all steps necessary to prevent. In contravention of this obligation the United States, a signatory of the Fourth Geneva Convention, has continued to provide strong military and political support for the illegal assassination policy that Israel has adopted.

In the face of Israeli practices, PCHR calls upon the international community and the High Contracting Parties to the Fourth Geneva Convention of 1949:

1. To immediately intervene to stop war crimes committed by Israeli occupation forces against Palestinian civilians and to force Israeli to respect the Fourth Geneva Convention in the Occupied Palestinian Territories (OPT);

2. To take concrete measures to stop war crimes and other violations of international humanitarian law committed by Israeli occupation forces against Palestinian civilians and ensure Israel's respect for the Fourth Convention in the OPT;
