

Marking the annual Palestinian Prisoners Day of 2012, the Palestinian Centre for Human Rights releases the film

This short documentary addresses the issues of solitary confinement and other measures of inhuman and degrading treatment to which Palestinian prisoners are subjected in Israeli jails. The film further highlights the human rights violations related to family visits and the Israeli abuse of administrative detention.

Help give a voice to those who are isolated behind bars and calling out for justice through a wide distribution of this video.